

SupportPilot AI

Autonomous customer support operations for small SaaS teams. Triage, draft, review, and send.

Built for the Gappy AI Hackathon using the Lemma SDK.

THE FOUNDER'S SUPPORT DILEMMA

SYSTEM OVERLOAD DIAGNOSTIC

50+ Tickets / Day

Tracked in spreadsheets.
Replied to from memory. High risk of dropped context.

6+ Hour Wait Times

Frustrated customers.
Inconsistent response quality
due to context switching.

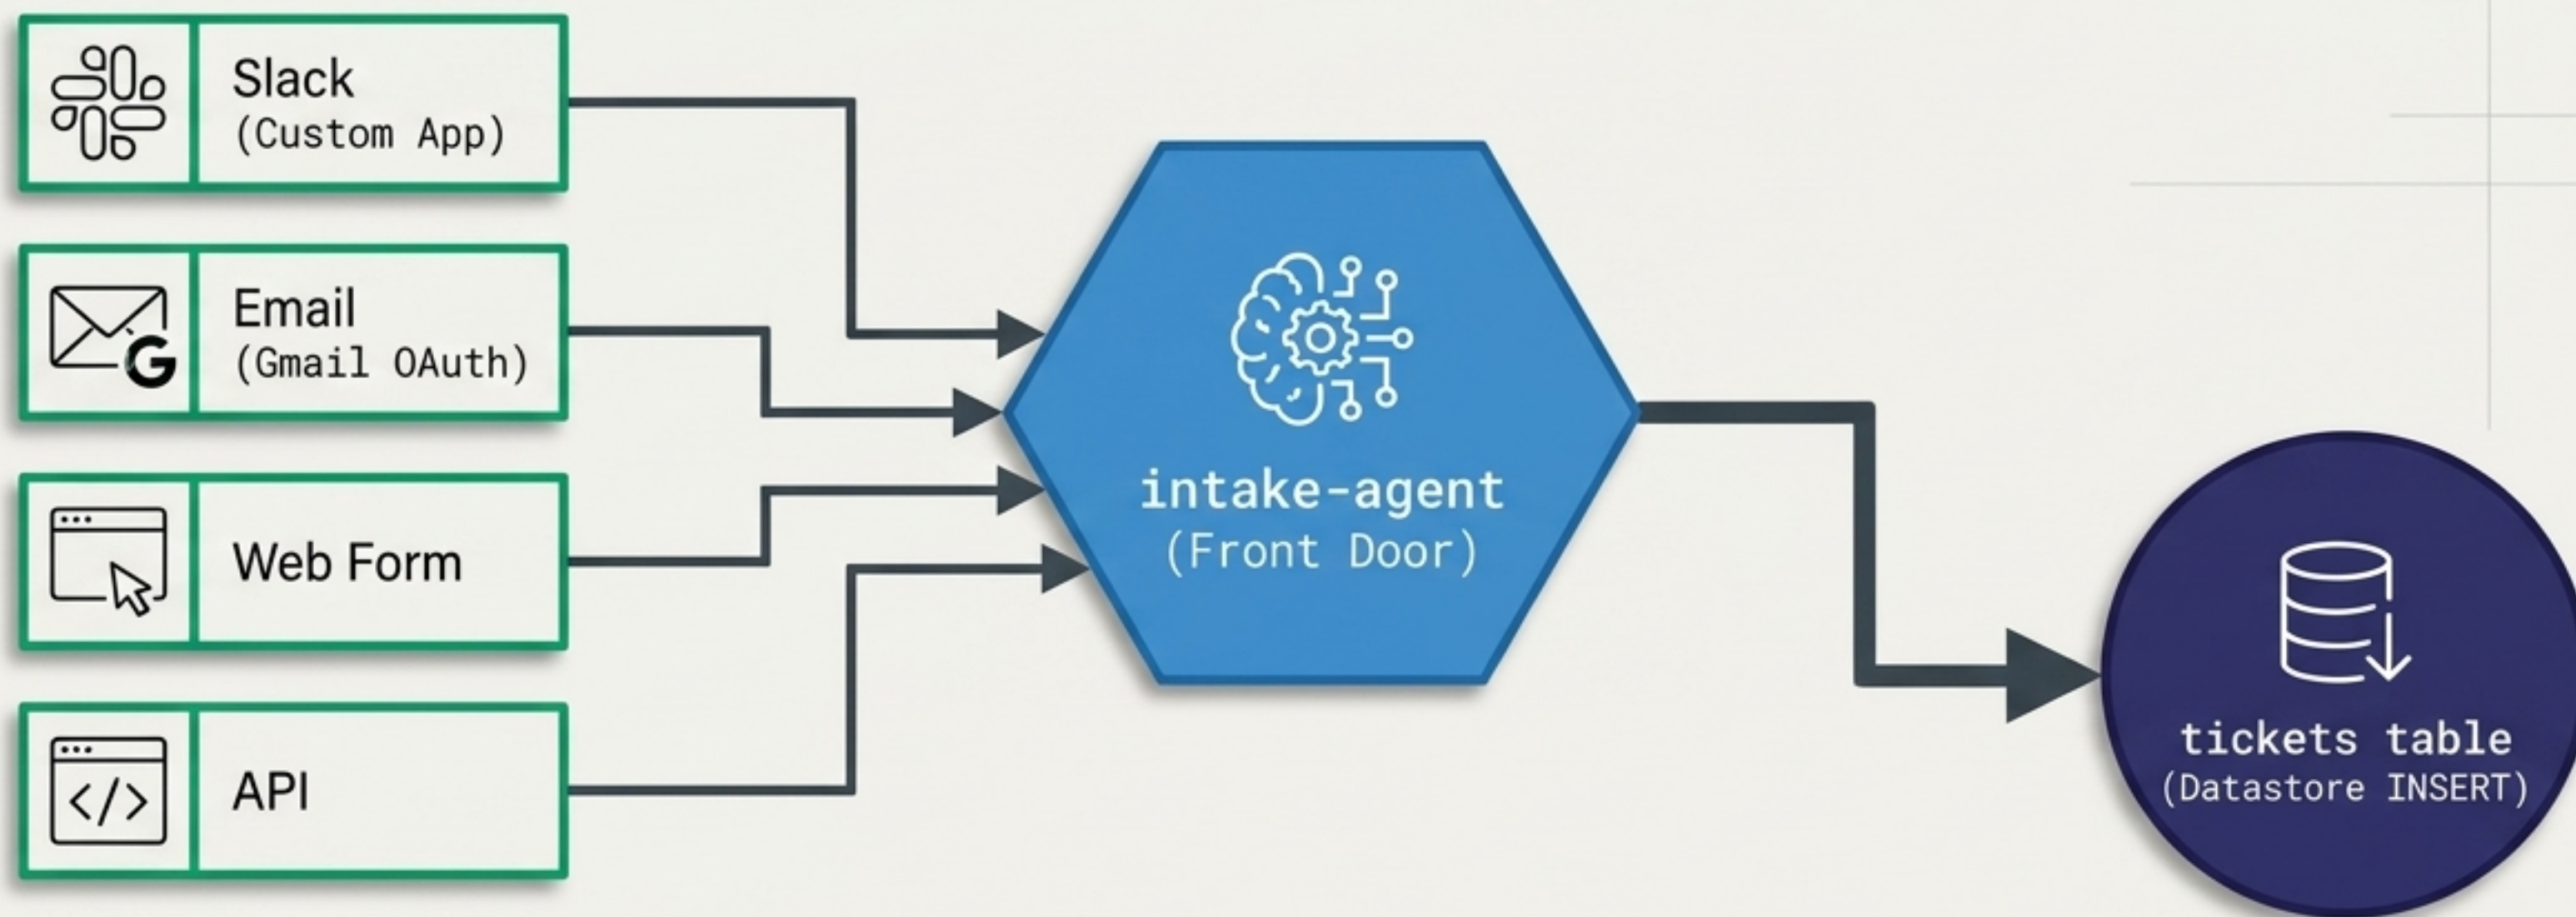

4 Hours Wasted

A 3-person founding team spends half their day on support execution instead of product building.

Multi-Channel Chaos Normalizes to a Single Event

Every channel does exactly one thing: drop a row in the database. The autonomous, event-driven pipeline takes over from there with zero human trigger.

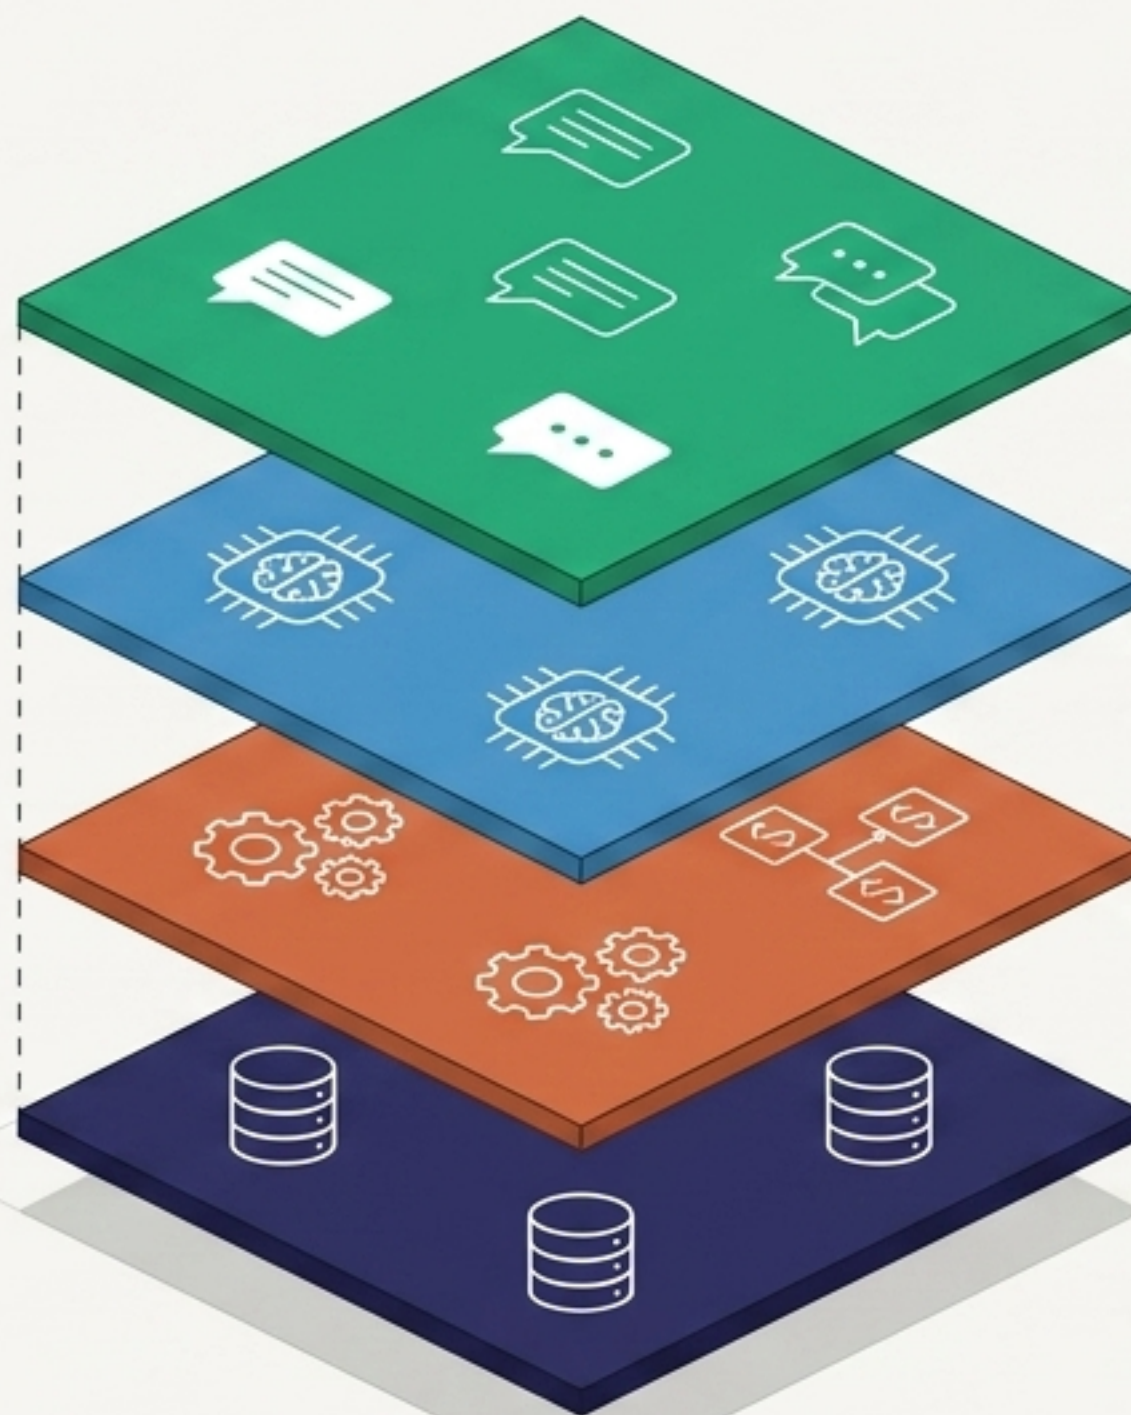

Core Philosophy: Separation of Judgement & Execution

The Lemma Pod Architecture Stack

Surfaces. Multi-channel intake.
Gmail, Slack, Web ops-app.

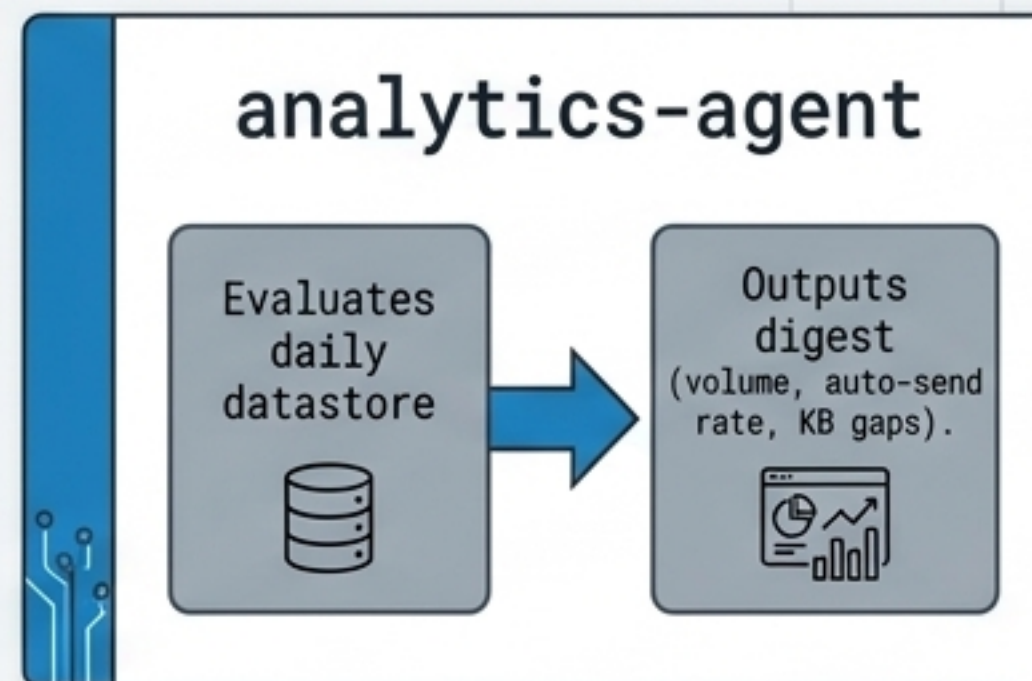

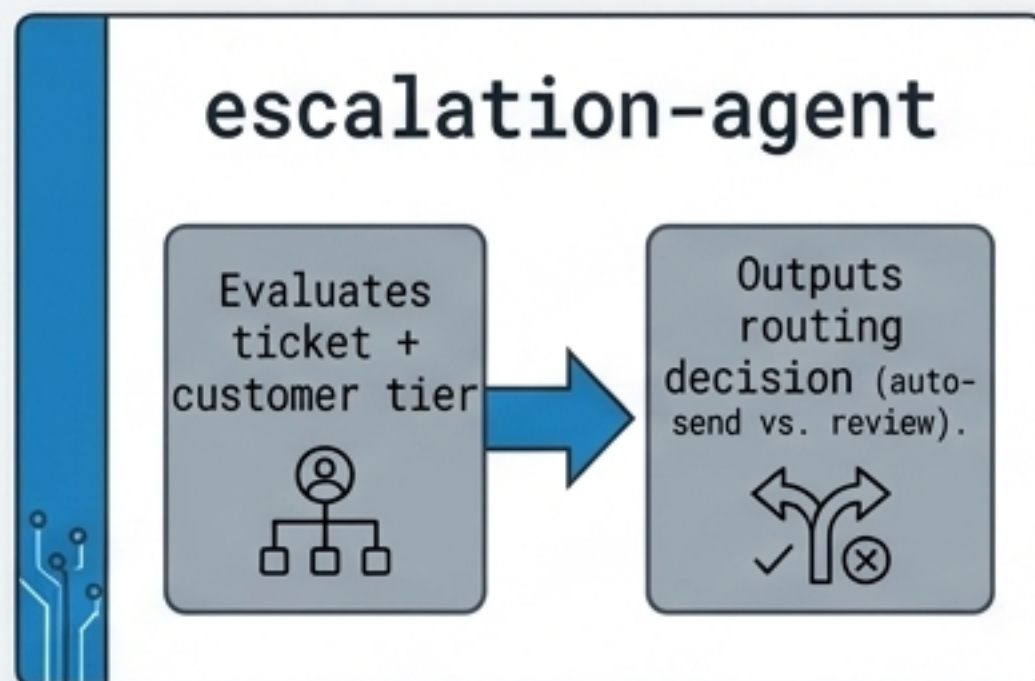

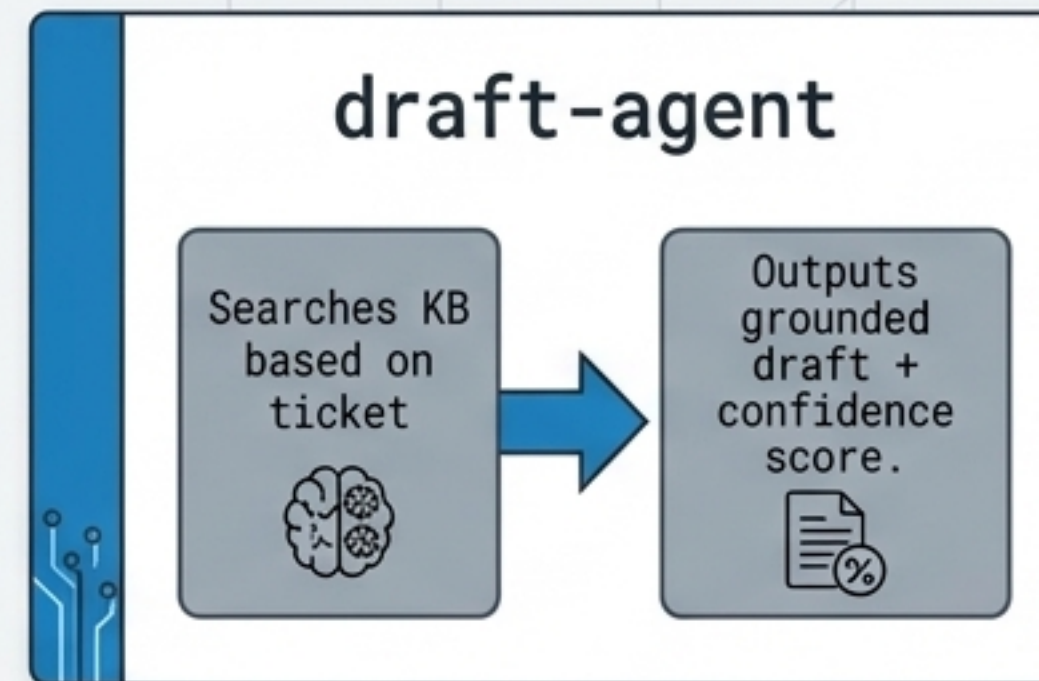

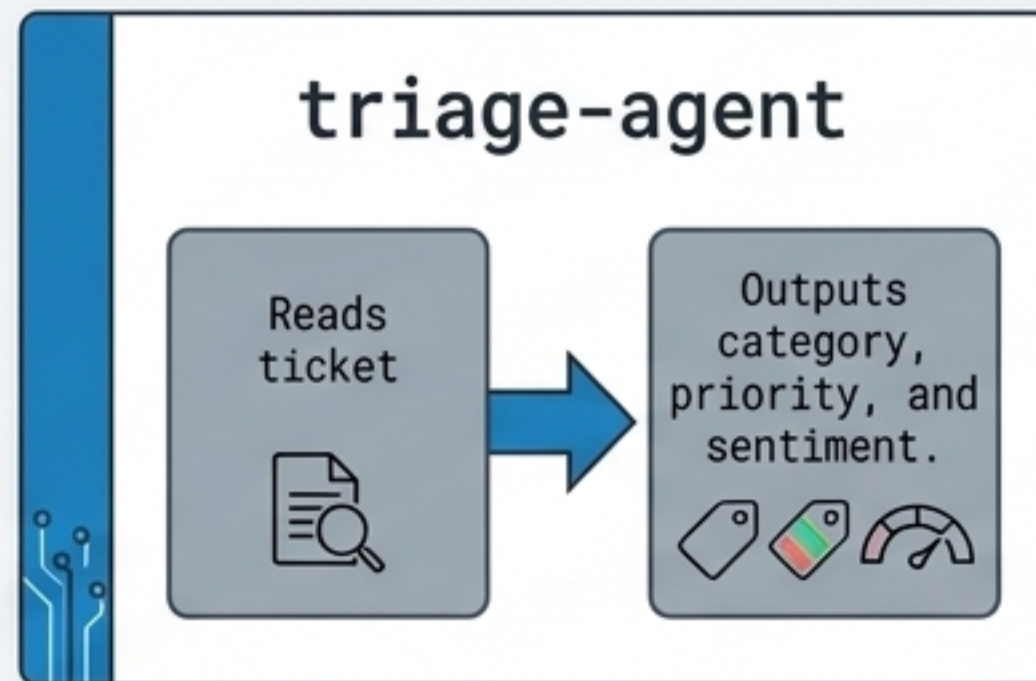

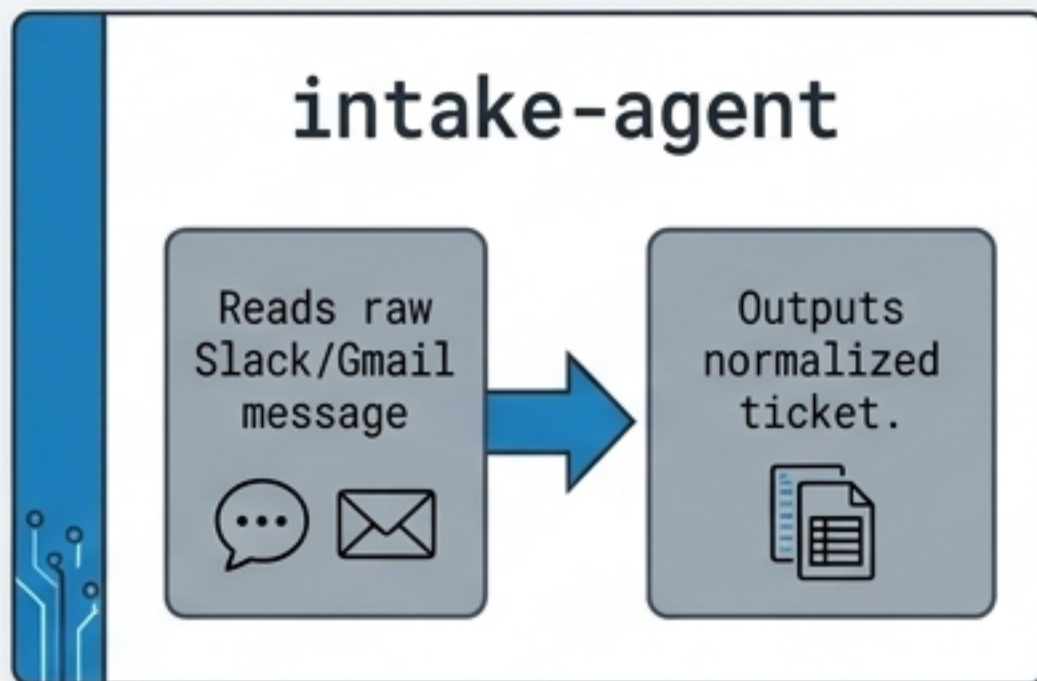

Execution. Workflows
(ticket-pipeline) and deterministic functions writing data.

Intelligence. Specialized read-only agents parsing context and making structured decisions.

State. Tables acting as the core work units: tickets, customers, knowledge_base, responses.

The Intelligence Roster

The Event-Driven Autonomous Pipeline

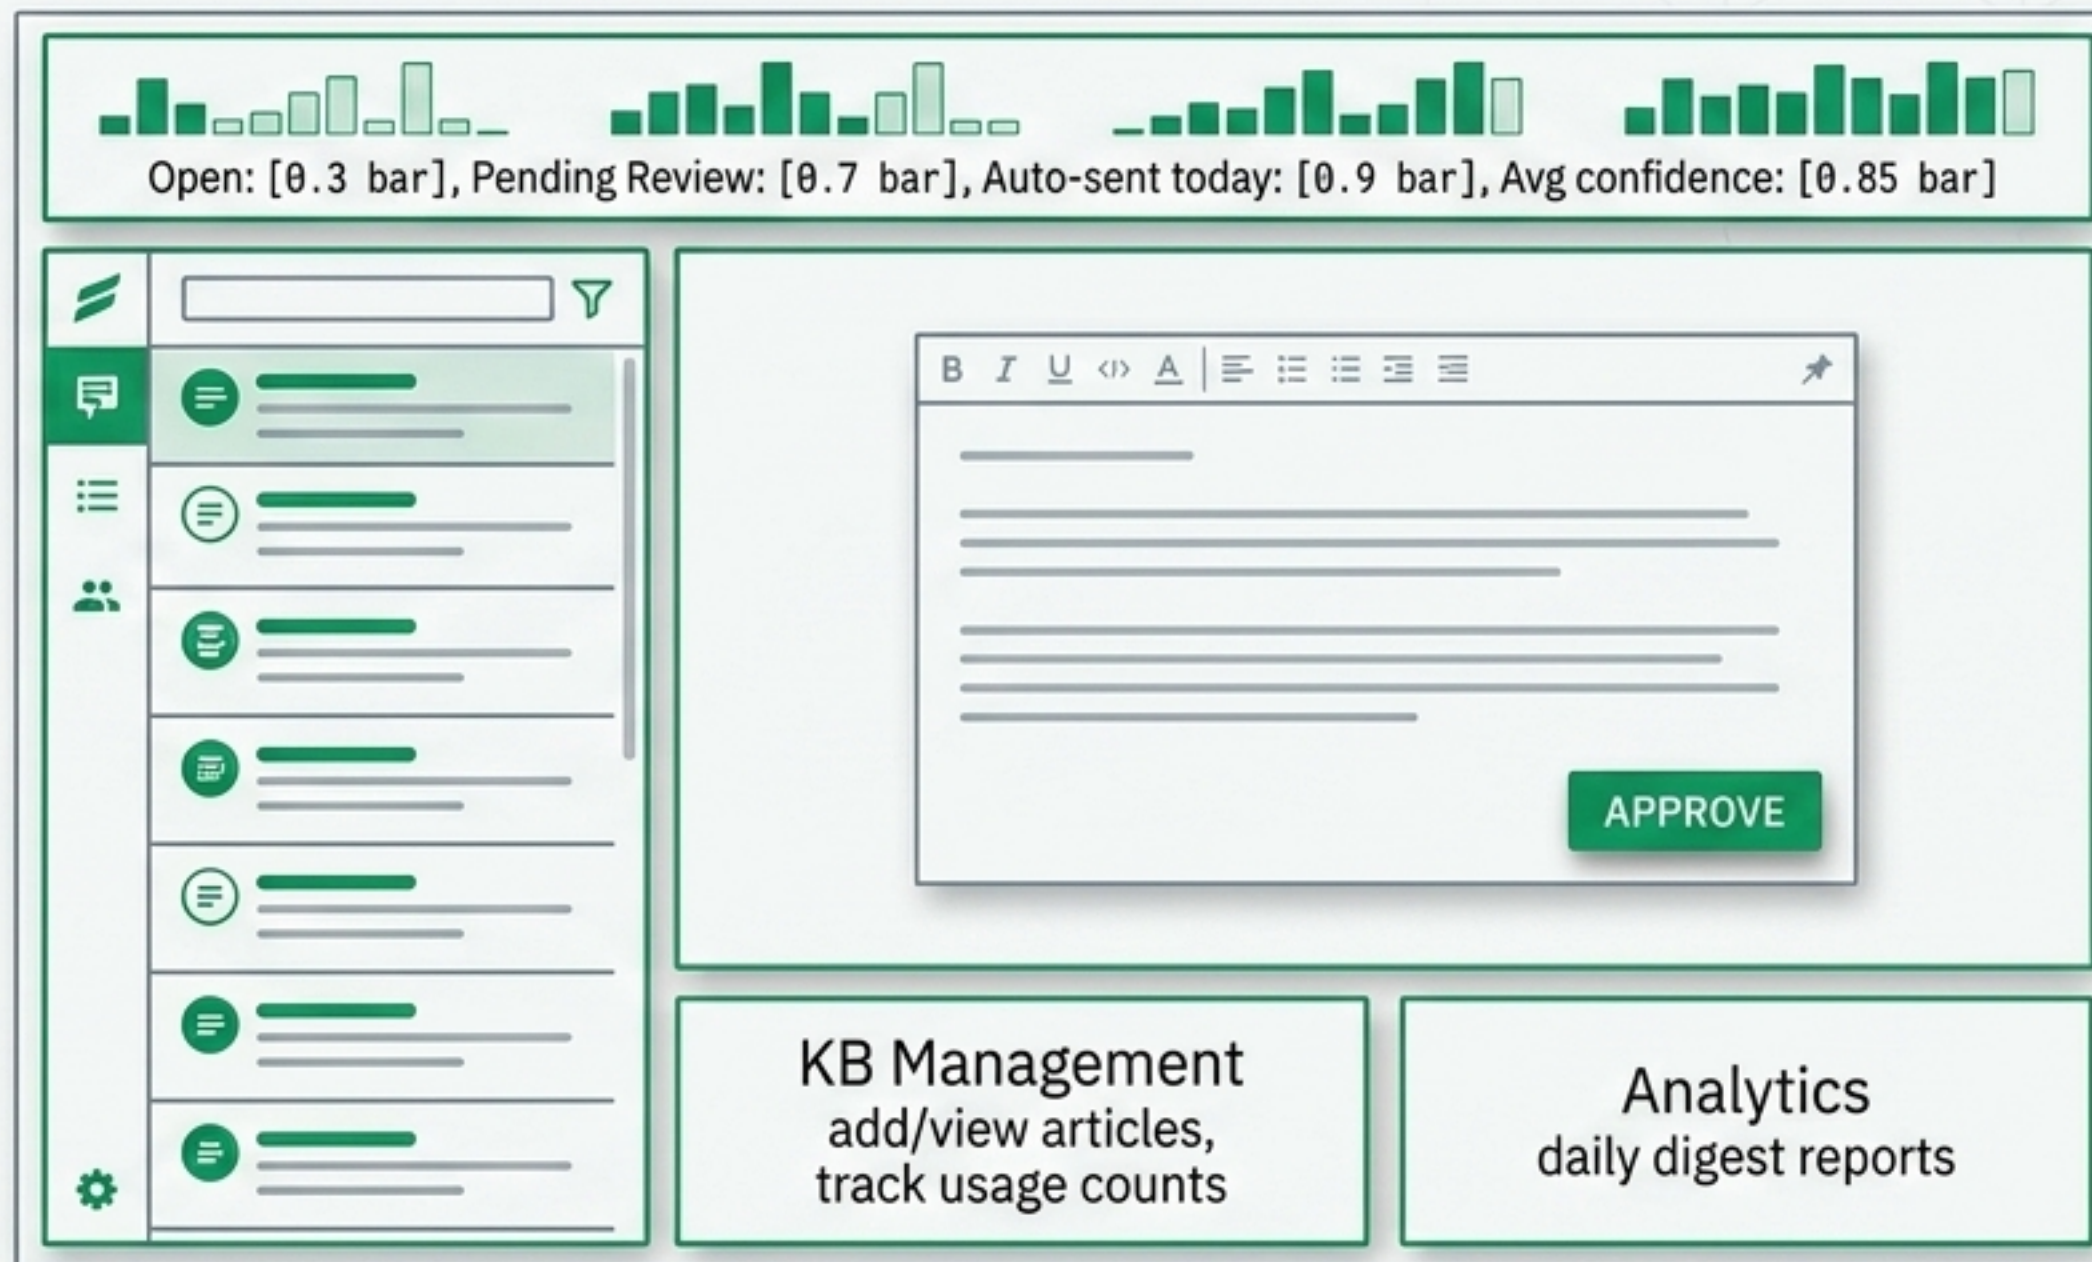

Pod ID: supportpilot (019f0e6c-39f7-71d0-af74-85aea430670f)

Pod ID: supportpilot (019f0e6c-39f7-71d0-af74-85aea430670f)

The Operator Interface (ops-app)

Top Nav:
Live Metrics

Left Panel:
Ticket Feed Live-updating with status/category/priority
filters

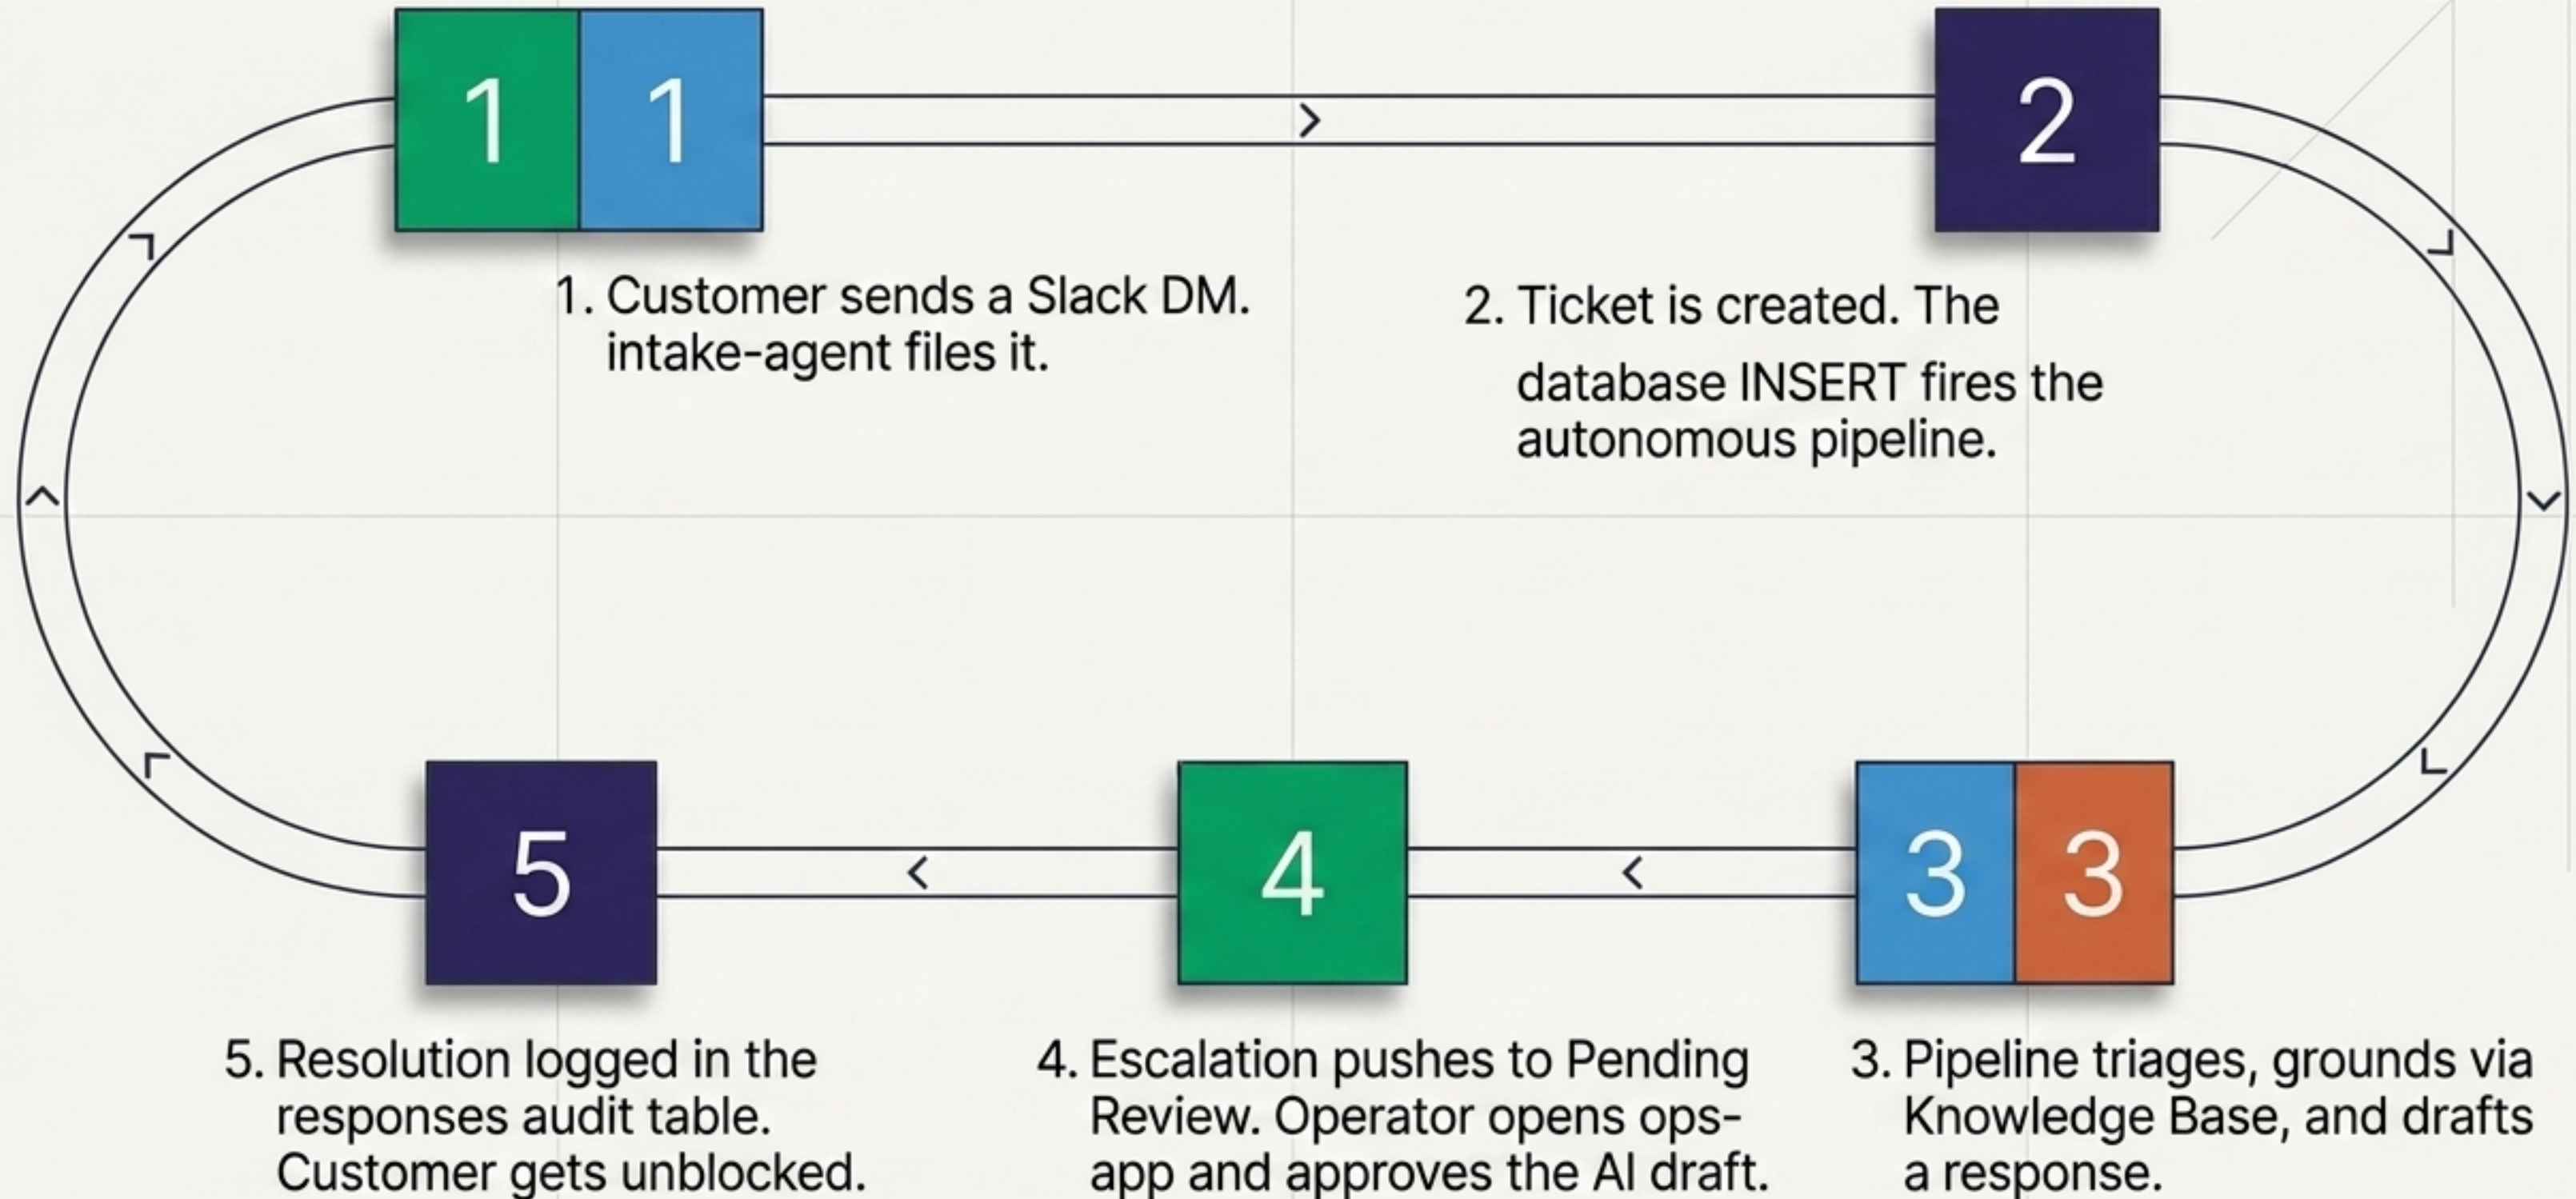

Center Stage:
Pending Review

Priority-sorted queue
featuring inline draft
approval interface

The single human surface for reviewing drafts, managing knowledge, and monitoring the autonomous pipeline.

End-to-End Resolution Journey

Scaling Support Without Scaling Headcount

Least-Privilege Security

Zero LLM tool-calling.
Total separation of read-only agents and deterministic datastore
writes.

Universal Intake

Slack, Gmail, API, and Web seamlessly normalize
into a single, reliable event-driven pipeline.

Founder Focus

Reclaims 4 hours per day
for a 3-person team,
moving them from manual support execution to
product building.